WANT BRIDGE CHANGE

Members of Board of Trade Think Malberry Street Best Location.

STREET CLEANING PROBLEM

It is thought that some better method than flushing should be adopted—Opposed to the Bailey Bankruptcy Bill—Woolen Company from Cumberland Would Like to Locate Here—The Communications Read.

It came out at last night's meeting of the board of trade that at least some of the men who compose that organization are opposed to the proposed location of the Linden street bridge. They want it changed to Malberry street. The board is also dissatisfied with the present method of cleaning the pavements, as appeared from the remarks of the members on that subject when it was under consideration. Mr. Kummer introduced the bridge matter to the meeting.

"I had thought," he said, as he unfolded a carefully prepared map showing the disadvantages of locating the bridge at Linden street, "that I would say no more about this subject, but I am still of the opinion that we are going wrong in building the bridge at Linden street."

He then went on to state that if the bridge is located on Linden street that there would be an average grade of nearly 12 per cent. If, however, the bridge were built from Malberry street there would be only a 2 per cent. grade and the cost would be less and the advantages much greater. There was little discussion of the subject, but the opinion of the members was made apparent when they voted unanimously for Mr. Kummer's resolution instructing the committee on streets and highways to ascertain whether or not it is still possible to effect a legal change of location of the bridge from Linden to Malberry.

CLEANING THE STREETS. The discussion of the street cleaning problem was precipitated by the submission of the following from the committee on streets and highways, read by Mr. Pond.

Whereas, The streets of our city, especially those in the business section, are continually littered with paper, straw and other refuse, caused to a large extent by the carelessness of our business men and merchants in allowing store and office sweepings to be thrown into the streets, to be taken up by the first gust of wind and to be blown into the face of the passer-by, frightening horses, and sadly marring the beauty of our avenues.

Therefore, be it resolved that we as a body will, so far as possible, support his honor, the mayor, in enforcing all city ordinances regarding these matters, or any additional laws he may suggest that will tend to the betterment of the condition of our public highways. Be it further resolved, That the secretary be instructed to furnish the mayor a copy of this resolution.

The discussion that ensued when this matter was being considered proved highly interesting. Mr. Pond gave his impression of the streets of Scranton when he first visited the city a number of years ago. Of course, it was not flattering to the natives. Still the gentleman had noted the great change for the better, but he still condemned the negligence displayed in caring for the pavements and thought that in time it would prove very costly.

Colonel Hitchcock declared that there is not another city in the United States where the paved streets are so sadly neglected as in Scranton. The carelessness, he asserted, is almost criminal.

Another speaker stated his belief that the employment of one or two men to each block to clean streets would cost less, prove more effective, and be better for the pavement than the present system of flushing.

President May, however, did not agree with the statement that it would be cheaper to sweep the streets than to clean them by flushing. The question was disposed of for the time by being referred back to the committee to report at next meeting.

AGAINST THE BAILEY BILL. The committee on legislation and taxes, to whom was referred the communication from Hamilton A. Hill, secretary of the national board of trade, relating to national bankruptcy legislation, reported that it is opposed to the passage of the Bailey Bankruptcy bill now before congress, as it is not such a measure as would prove beneficial to the business interests of the country.

It was recommended that a copy of the report be forwarded to Congressmen Scranton and Greene, and that the secretary be instructed to acquaint Congressmen Scranton and the two United States senators of the board's action.

The committee also suggested that it would be best for the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company as well as the business men of Scranton if a sleeping car were to be placed in a convenient switch at the station no later than 7:30 o'clock each evening, the same to be attached to the train which passes through here at 1:59 a. m. for New York. The committee was instructed to confer with General Manager Halliday.

The committee stated that it is in communication with Division Superintendent Williams, of the Ontario, Western and New York railroad company, relative to changing the routing of their trains, both passenger and freight, in such a way that Scranton would become the market for people living along the line of this road, instead of Utica and other New York state towns. Later a letter from the company was read. It stated that during the month a time card meeting would be held at which the board's suggestion would be considered if possible.

WANT THEIR OWN BUILDING. Chairman Kummer, of the room committee, reported in favor of discharging the committee and referring the question of quarters to the board of trade building committee. He was in favor of the erection of a building of their own.

A letter from the Lackawanna Woolen company of Cumberland, Pa., was read, calling attention to the fact that there is a paucity in the line of such industries in this city and suggesting the company's willingness to open communication with a view to establishing such an industry here. It referred to the committee on manufactures.

A letter from Colonel Pope named Isaac B. Potter, of New York, as a competent person to deliver an address on the subject of good roads, and a brief communication from the mayor of the city conveyed the information that it is impossible to enforce the new plan outlined for the reason that the ordinance does not provide for the necessary expense to carry out its provisions. The letter stated that the mayor would to devise some plan in the future by means of which the cows could be kept within proper limits.

A communication from General Manager Atwater, of the Erie railroad company, was read by the secretary. In reference to tenders for the street cars, it was stated that the company had the matter under consideration and that tenders would be accepted as soon as it is decided which kind is preferable.

The names of Arthur L. Collins and Frank P. Christian were proposed for membership.

OTHER CASES CALLED UP.

An indictment quashed where Benjamin Walsh and Michael Nealon were arraigned to answer a charge of having burglarized the store of Mr. Roca on Pine street. Through a mistake of the clerk, the indictment was issued against the wrong person.

On motion of Colonel E. J. Fitzsimmons, counsel for the defense, the indictment was quashed. The defendants were held in bail and will be indicted on the proper charge at the next meeting of the grand jury.

A guilty plea was entered in each of the following cases: William Baker, assault and battery; Katie Walsh, prosecutrix; Herman Harsell, assault and battery; Peter Snyder, prosecutrix.

Before Judge Sitter, Elizabeth Vaughan was charged with assaulting her sister, Sarah Vaughan. A verdict of not guilty was taken and the county directed to pay costs.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

At the Frothingham tomorrow and Thursday evening Henry E. Dixey and Rice's big burlesque company will present "Adonis," which has been four years since Mr. Dixey last visited Scranton. The "Adonis" in which Mr. Dixey will be seen here is the same old "Adonis" in which he has made his world-wide reputation. As it will be presented at the Frothingham it will be substantially the same production that will on May 1 go to Eugene's theatre, New York, for a run through the summer.

ALABAMA. The simple commencement that Augustus Thomas' great southern play, "Alabama," is to be produced at the Frothingham next Friday evening should be sufficient to assure a crowded house. The fame of the play has preceded it, and every theater-goer has heard of "Alabama." It is a southern play, with its scenes and plot laid in the picturesque town of Talladega, Ala. So true to life and nature is "Alabama," that a celebrated critic wrote, "It seemed as though Mr. Thomas had cut a slice out of the state of Alabama and placed it upon the stage."

PASSED A CONFEDERATE BILL. Golden Says It's a Privilege in a Free Country.

Andrew Gordon, a Poland, residing on Lloyd street, was arrested last evening for tendering a $10 Confederate bill in payment for meat at the market of H. J. Cohen at 425 Penn avenue and getting away with $8.70 in change.

In a charge was discovered soon after Gordon departed and he was overtaken by Jacob Brandywine, a clerk, who handed Gordon over to Policeman Sargent Brandywine and thought he had the change to Gordon before he had received the bill in payment.

Gordon's excuse at the police station was that this is a free country and if he can buy Confederate $10 bills for 10 cents each, he has the privilege of doing as he chooses with the war money.

The police say that Gordon has victimized many of his countrymen with the antiquated specie.

ESCAPED FROM SING SING. Actor Thomas E. Shea is Warmly Welcomed by Scrantonians.

The excellent reputation won one year ago by Thomas E. Shea for versatility, ambition and the liberality which insists upon surrounding himself with an efficient and well-balanced support, sufficed at evening to attract to the Academy of Music an audience that filled every available seat and compelled several persons to stand. Mr. Shea was most cordially welcomed and in the conventional play of "Escaped from Sing Sing" demonstrated anew his power to play at will with the sympathies of his hearers.

The company with which he has associated himself in his tour slightly from that seen last year. A clean, smooth and unusual effective performance was the result. Tonight Mr. Shea will present "The Shores of New York."

ALLEGEDLY'S PRISON. Will suit everybody. 235 Wyoming avenue.

DOCKSTADER AT THE FROTHINGHAM. He Was Greeted by a Large Audience There Last Night.

Always popular Lew Dockstadter and his company of minstrels were greeted by a large audience at the Frothingham last night. The evening's entertainment opened with a session of the "Katie" club, the members of the company appearing in black satin frock coats.

Mr. Dockstadter, seated by George Powers, Dave Port and J. T. Harrington kept smiling constantly during the performance, and the audience, and Messrs. Leighton, Woods, Golden, Bode and the Collins brothers rendered to my delight one of the best of the year.

Memphis it surely did an amazing musical act on the trumpet work of Rowe and Brennan was irresistibly gay.

FOX'S TERRIBLE CRIME

With the Assistance of His Wife He Perpetrated a Most Heinous Crime.

HE ENTERED A PLEA OF GUILTY

Mrs. Fox Refused to Emulate His Example in That Respect and Will Let a Jury Decide Her Fate—Their Victim is a Delicate Looking Little Girl of Fourteen—Other Cases Heard Before Judges.

The opening day of the present term of criminal court was made memorable by the trial of a case of almost unparalleled atrocity. It was called up before Judge Archibald in the main court room yesterday afternoon.

Lila Fox, with the assistance of Tilla Fox, his wife, was charged with having ravished Clara Bixby, a 14-year-old girl, on the night of Feb. 21. Mrs. Fox entered a plea of guilty, but Mrs. Fox refused to submit her case to a jury. She is defended by Attorney John M. Harris and District Attorney Kelly appears for the commonwealth.

Clara Bixby was the first witness called for the prosecution. Though appearing in a feeble condition, she is small and delicate, and her appearance would indicate that she is not over 11.

She said that in accordance with an arrangement made by Mrs. Fox with her mother, she went to the house of Mr. and Mrs. Fox at Chestnut and Second streets, on the West side, to assist Mrs. Fox with the house work.

STORY OF THE CRIME.

On Feb. 17 she began to work for them and one week later, Feb. 21, she went to bed as usual in her room, which adjoined the sleeping apartments of Mr. and Mrs. Fox. After she had retired, however, they directed her to leave her room and share their bed and she complied. Thereupon Mrs. Fox assaulted her and when she attempted to make an outcry Mrs. Fox held her down, put her hand over her mouth and threatened to slap her if she made any disturbance.

Early the next morning Clara said she returned to her home and reported the occurrence to her parents. Mr. Fulton testified to the condition of the girl two days after the assault, when he was called to examine her. Police Officer Stephen Dyer, who arrested Mrs. Fox, swore that she admitted having held the girl, but claimed the latter submitted voluntarily in consideration of receiving a silver ring.

The admission of the husband that he was guilty was offered in evidence and at that point court adjourned for the day.
